Chicago Times: Andy has fairly earned the honor if bull-dog tenacity and indomitable pluck can earn any position. But his advent at Washington will not be regarded with feelings of unmixed gratification by men of either party. He is a bull-headed Bourbon of the most pronounced stamp; the party. He is a bull-headed Bourbon of the most pronounced stamp; the father of "a policy" which he will be forever advocating, blind to all considerations save its ultimate triumph—an impracticable, headstrong fanatic, whose advent in the senate will be the signal for a general row. But it cannot be denied that Mr. Johnson is honest. Corruption is not one of the faults that have been laid to his charge, and he will be the uncompromising opponent of all schemes of jobbery that may come before the senate, no matter from which party they may emanate.
